MR. VIRGIL R. COLEMAN, yardmaster of the C. & O. at Thurmond, W. Va., was on Wednesday's train enroute to his old home at Middleburg.

MRS. SALLIE MILLER, of Stanford, is visiting Mrs. Hiram Collier. Mrs. W. R. Rice is spending a month with her sister at Mt. Sterling.—Advocate.

MESSRS. G. B. COOPER and J. B. Paxton went to Frankfort yesterday to try to get the Board of Equalization knock a few cents off of Lincoln county's rate.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE L. PENNY entertained Mr. and Mrs. Horace Brown. Miss Isabella Bailey added to the pleasure of the occasion by her excellent violin music.

THE Central Record says that Mr. A. H. Bastin will give the proceeds of his telephone system in Garrard, Saturday, to the building committee of the Methodist parsonage.

THOMAS M. OWLSLEY, of this city, for several years United States Commissioner here, has been appointed Special Revenue Agent by Commissioner John W. Yerkes. The salary is $3,000 a year and expenses.—Bowling Green Cor. Louisville Times.

MESSRS. IKE AND G. S. SHELBY and their families left Wednesday for Ponca City, Oklahoma, near which place they will locate. Mr. Isaac Shelby, Sr., father of the gentlemen, accompanied them as far as Cincinnati. Lincoln county people dislike very much to give up such citizens as the above and hope that they will soon find it to their interest to return to the State of their nativity.

YOUR property may burn next. See Jesse D. Wearen and insure it before it is too late. He represents the best companies in the country.

FINED.—Anthony Roneker was fined $20 in Judge Bailey's court for obstructing the county road between Ottenheim and Chappell's Gap.

FINED.—Irvine Mullins, of Rockcastle, was arrested here Wednesday on a charge of breach of the peace and fined $12. When searched he had three bottles of whisky in his pockets.

CHANGE OF DATE.—In order not to conflict with the Odd Fellow celebration on the 26th, the date of Mrs. Cecilia Eppinghausen Bailey's entertainment here has been changed to Thursday night, April 25th. Danville and Lancaster papers that have noticed the lady's coming will please note the change.

SCOTT county democrats had an experience similar to ours in their primary. I. W. True was thought to have won the nomination for school superintendent, but when the count was made it was found that L. H. Paxton had won by 37. Our old friend, Dink Farmer, can sympathize with Mr. True, but we doubt if he takes his defeat as manly as Mr. Farmer.

STRAUB.—James Snyder Straub, the 2½ months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Straub, Jr., died at 11 o'clock Wednesday night of pneumonia and was buried yesterday afternoon after short services by Rev. J. B. Crouch. The parents have the sympathy of their friends here and elsewhere in the loss of the bright little fellow who was loaned to them for a few days only.

"I HAVE not been inside of a meeting house since Richmond fell," said Col. Isaac Shelby, the other day. "I was in the capital of the Confederacy for some time prior to the fall and participated in the daily prayer meetings for deliverance from the enemy, but it did not avail and since then I have not regarded the virtue of prayer with as great a faith as formerly." The colonel evidently believes in a prayer test, but the grandson of the first governor of Kentucky ought not to give up so easily, but pray without ceasing and in everything give thanks.

WILL LECTURE.—Mrs. C. A. Lehmann, of Louisville, will lecture at the Christian church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the interest of the young ex-convicts of this State. The city of Louisville has donated a building to be converted into a broom factory and in it young men who have just served terms in the penitentiary will be given employment at reasonable wages. Mrs. Lehmann is deeply interested in this class of criminals and believes that in giving them work and treating them kindly they can be saved from further disgrace. Go and hear her. No collection will be taken up, but those who want to contribute to the good cause she represents will be given the opportunity of doing so.

SOMERSET.—The man who knew the capital of Pulaski in the '70s would not know where he was if he were dropped suddenly into it in this good year of our Lord 1901. It has grown and expanded, improved and beautified till the beholder is lost in admiration. Magnificent buildings have taken the place of the old tumble down concerns that 25 years ago looked well enough to the old residents. A reporter of the I. J. was there Tuesday, for the first time since the Durham-Thompson convention that finally adjourned to Stanford, and is greatly indebted to Editor F. J. Campbell, who is prospering, and Lawyer J. P. Hornaday, the all round good fellow and general promoter of paying enterprises, for a thorough look at the town. Mr. Hornaday keeps a fine turnout and drove so fast over the rather rough streets, that it would have tried a man with weak nerves. He apologized for the streets, the only thing that seemed to need it, and said that the incoming administration would make them all that the fastidious driver could desire. Mr. Hornaday is just now turning his attention mainly to the oil business, which promises to make that whole country flourish like a green bay tree. There are already a hundred miles of pipe lines bringing the oil from the Wayne county and Tennessee fields and a huge tank on the hill in South Somerset, receives and empties it into the railroad tank line. Col. Sellers in his happiest moments never imagined the half that Mr. Hornaday is sure awaits all who get in on the ground floor in developing the "greatest oil field in America."
